

Abstract

System, including apparatus and method, for processing a material based on data input by manual deflection of a light beam.